Branch Innovation with the help of CashTrans...

Milledgeville, GA – Exchange Bank is combining new branch innovations in technology with enhanced customer service at its new branch under construction in Milledgeville, GA. This new location is scheduled to open in spring of 2017 and will represent a major step forward in leveraging new technology coupled with greater focus on client services.

“This new branch project is a major new direction for our bank and we are excited with the plans to enhance our products and service delivery. CashTrans has been with us throughout the entire project and has provided outstanding input and support,” stated Henry Pope Jr., President & CEO at Exchange Bank.

Financial Institutions across the southeast are rapidly adopting both self-service as well as the teller-assisted models in branch innovation. With the new advanced electronic cash recyclers, in-lobby tellers and multi-function ATMs, institutions can build in efficiencies that were not available just a few years ago. “These are exciting times and we at CashTrans take great pleasure assisting our valued clients as they evaluate all of the new technology from DieboldNixdorf and other manufacturers. Accordingly, our clients know that we have their best interest at heart and will do all we can to support them throughout major projects such as this one,” comments Dan Bailey, Senior Vice President at CashTrans.
