Deposit Automation Takes-Off at Delta Community Credit Union

Atlanta– Delta Community Credit Union, a not-for-profit, financial services institution and Georgia’s largest credit union, has embraced “ATM Deposit Automation” in a big way and is presently upgrading Diebold ATMs with advanced envelope-free bulk cash and check deposit features throughout its entire branch network. CashTrans is supporting this project as a Diebold Certified Dealer.

“We are continually looking for ways to better serve our members with convenience, reliability and the services they desire,” states Carol Sundberg, SVP, Payments & Remote Delivery at Delta Community Credit Union. “We have evaluated this new technology and believe deposit automation provides value to both members and our operation.”

Delta Community is among a growing list of community and regional financial institutions that have turned to advanced deposit ATMs to better serve their members. According to a recent report published by RBR, U.S. national financial institutions’ penetration rate on envelope-free ATMs is already at 53% and growing.

“Working with the Delta Community team has been a pleasure, and we are honored with the trust that they have placed in Diebold and CashTrans to support this project,” says Dan Bailey, Senior Vice President at CashTrans. “Our continued focus on service and support will help to ensure this strategy is sound and works well for Delta Community. This service also should help reduce costs and staff time for the credit union.”

Credit unions are facing many challenges today with the deployment of ATMs, such as rising costs and added operational responsibilities. CashTrans and Diebold strive to remove as many of those challenges as possible while creating opportunities for more advanced ATM technology that can add program efficiency and greater convenience for credit union members.
